At the National Conference held in Melbourne in May 2002 the ACORN Board of the time created a new category of membership, the "Affiliate Member". This decision was ratified by members at the 2002 Annual General Meeting.

The category was created as a result of a perceived need to provide support to individuals who may otherwise not be eligible for membership through a Local Association. Examples include Medical Industry Representatives and Sterilising Service Managers.

Affiliate membership is individual and non-transferable.

Benefits of affiliate membership include:

- Discount "member rates" for ACORN conferences
- Four ACORN journals per year
- Access to ACORN Corporate QANTAS Club rates.

ACORN is currently investigating the addition of a new category, that of "Corporate Membership", which would be available for companies rather than individuals.
